A very entertaining evening. The acting capital.

An Election Farce.

The Rural Candidates wives called the various houses in the village & asked for votes for their husbands. A concert was given at wh. various villagers gave songs or recitations - see programme. Miss Bagnall was excellent as the vulgar spoilt child - Miss Devonshire was most realistic as a nervous country girl - with a monstrous red bow at the back of her neck - & roses in her hair -

The noise made in the street after the speeches was truly appalling - & considering the number of actors it was a credit to their lungs!

The costume made by the actors were capital. Some of the hits in the piece were very amusing - real penny jokes. The brown paper scenery was excellent & humphly & humphly on the top of a brown paper wall with trails of ivy was most effective.

Literary Evening.

George Eliot.

Miss Devonshire read a paper on George Eliot which was full of thought & interest. He felt at once that Miss Devonshire was speaking to us of one of her favourite authors & the picture she drew of George Eliot's life was a very pict & touching one.

Miss Devonshire also found it possible in the short time to touch on almost all of George Eliot's works, selecting from them such passages as could best illustrate what she had to say about them.

In this way she gave to us a most charming account of the life & works of George Eliot.

The selections were read by different people & we all much enjoyed hearing Miss Williams read some passages from The Mill on the Floss & especially the amusing breakfast scene between Mr. & Mrs. Plegg.

Entertainment

by the Juniors

On Saturday, 16th, which was Half Term Saturday the Juniors gave us their first Entertainment. It was a great success, & many complimentary remarks were heard to issue from the mouths of the Great Personages of the House. The Entertainment consisted of a Charade - Chestnut - The first drawal of the curtains revealed a typical 20th Century scene - two young lady doctors! Their mannish ways were most edifying. Hope the bona fide doctors know a chest from a back! Scene II was a Lunatic Asylum. Scene III A Barber's Shop. Miss Montmercy's head-gear was much admired, also the barber. This is the first of many treats we hope to enjoy in the course of the year.

May 28th On the occasion of a visit from Mr & Mrs Foster the Juniors represented by Miss Chyrtal and Miss Clendinning provided a series of Tableaux. Some music between the scenes was given by Miss Devonshire, Drury, Louisa.

and Miss Kirby gave an amusing little sketch in dialect which was much appreciated. The Tableaux were well arranged and a pretty effect was obtained from the use of coloured fires.

June 11.

A Musical Evening.

Miss Kirby read a most interesting paper on Beethoven which was illustrated by selections from his works.

Miss Devonshire played the two first movements of the Sonata Sympathique. Miss Lane the Moonlight Sonata & Miss Devory the two first movements of the Appassionata.

It was a great pleasure to listen to this beautiful music, played with such sympathy & understanding.

The paper dealt particularly with the influence of Beethoven's life on his works. It was very interesting & we all hope that this will be the beginning of a series of musical evening. When the paper was finished Miss Devonshire read several amusing anecdotes about Beethoven.

The Sports.

These were held between 4 & 6, organised by the Seniors. They were the greatest possible success, the weather was perfect & we were all prepared to enjoy ourselves immensely & were not disappointed.

The sports began by a driving competition, one student blindfolded, acting as horse & the other as driver. It was too funny to see them madly plunging in every direction except the desired one.

This was followed by the 100 yards race.

Then Egg & Spoon race;

The Obstacle Race, which was most amusing; each competitor had to run a certain distance, have gloves & tie put on by someone else, pick up six pins with gloved hands, eat a cracker & crawl through an easel.

The washing competition was great fun & very exciting.

The sports ended by a tug of war between Seniors & Juniors the former gaining a prompt victory when the rope broke on the Juniors side.

The poets tournament was extremely interesting. There was some difference of opinion as to the merits of two of the poems but it was discovered that they were both by the same author so Miss Thomas was doubly triumphant.

Dramatic Entertainment.

June 8.

This was a royal day for the Juniors who were again visited by the Seniors to a Philanthropic Debate in the evening. This was a most amusing performance. Miss Verschoor was simply too funny as Mr. North, Words, such a wicked old man. Miss Thomas was unspeakably funny as the beautiful curate. In fact all the characters were as amusing as they could possibly be. The Juniors had heard rumours of the dramatic talents of the Seniors & they were not disappointed.

The children gave a capital entertainment. The dresses were very pretty & they all acted very well.
The little wood fairies in white with green caps looked charming.
The Terrace Bazaar was a great success. The procession along the terrace looked exceedingly pretty.

Copy of the Student's letter to the Magazine

Dear Editor

We hear that a few words from the Juniors will be welcome & that you will be glad to know something of the doings of Scale How during the latter half of last term.

The Half term holiday was on May 21st & most of us went to Lilleswater. It was simply a perfect day ~~all~~ throughout. All through the term we have taken advantage of the beautiful weather to have many picnics in the Brook or on Longleiff & in Dove's Nest woods. What a happy thing it is to be a giddy junior with leisure for these little gaieties & no responsibilities on our shoulders. But this light hearted state of things is gradually becoming more staid & serious for the Juniors have now taken the school entirely in hand & begin to be keenly conscious of the dignity of their position.

On May 28th we had a most interesting lecture on Browning from Mr. Gordon (Vicar of Morecambe) who spoke chiefly on Browning's religious teaching & read us many beautiful passages to illustrate his meaning.

In the evening a small entertainment took place in Mr. Thos Gordon's honour & afterwards he, most kindly, consented to read us Tennyson's "Guinevere".

On June 8th we had sports organised by our indefatigable Seniors. They were a grand success, everyone taking some part in them. Miss Alibing entered for the driving race. Miss Williams for the washing competition. Oh she most certainly would have won if she had not been so strictly honest about putting her soap in exactly the right place! The rewards were pretty medals most cleverly contrived by Miss Hitzel in terra cotta clay (with the aid of the H. of E. seal) precisely imitating the H. of E. Badges.

soon after this Mr Tuckwell came to start our Botanical garden. He promised to come again next year & see how it is getting on. The day after we had a garden party & Mr Tuckwell gave his very beautiful lecture on Wordsworth - we all enjoyed it so much. The children's party was a great success & their play, "Rumpelstiltskin" most amusing.

The holidays were mostly spent in France or Switzerland by the great majority of us. Our return at the beginning of the term was a very gay one. We are all glad to be back & especially glad to see Miss Mason looking & seeming so much better. We found very interesting visitors here - Mr & Mrs Fred Yates. Mr Yates has been making sketches of some of the prettiest spots about here; he is a great admirer of Millet's & believes that a knowledge & appreciation of Millet's works would do more than anything else to rouse an artistic sense in children.

Miss Mason has had the building behind the house (opposite the barn & stables) transformed into a sanatorium which can also be used for the students who were sleeping out before. Underneath this is a fine room which is to be used for the handicrafts. The walls being covered with plaster only, Mr Yates offered to decorate them for us. & so he has covered them with classical sketches of such of Millet's works as he thought it most desirable for us to learn to know. But Mr Yates most valued gift to us is a beautiful portrait of Miss Mason. He has managed to catch her brightest & happiest expression, & the portrait is a really satisfying one. Then we had a visit from Mr Dallas Yoke who was of course the occasion for various festivities. One day we had an "At Home" & Mr Marshall gave a lecture on "Home's a most intimate acquaintance -

In the evening the seniors gave us a dramatic entertainment.

A little later we had another great treat in the visit of Miss Ada Rehan the American actress who came & recited for us. It was most wonderful to hear her give Katherine's advice to wives from the "Taming of the Shrew" & the Epilogue of "as you like it." She also recited Portia's speech on mercy & a delicious little speech from some play of Congreve's.

This is all our news for the present, but you will see that there has been plenty doing lately & that we are not dull here.

Christmas 1901.

The children's party was very gay & successful.
They acted some pretty Tableaux. Recited in costume.

After the children had finished their part of the entertainment we had a Devonshire dwarf. This mother who gave us much amusement with his funny antics & then comical get ups.

Everyone shrieked with laughter when the dwarf picked up the presents with his feet & handed them round.

The Students Entertainment was excellent.
 They produced a capital original play.
 The dresses were very good & the scenery did everybody credit.
 The make up was fine.

The Seniors all came in powder & patches. with their hair done in a most elaborate fashion. Their names were most imposing.

The Dukes of Devonshire - Lady Anne etc.

The Juniors gave a most original & delightful entertainment of tableaux, acting. First of all there were 'advertisements', very well done, followed by tableaux, the 'miller & the maid' & 'home they brought her warmer dead', while the songs were sung. The 'three old maids of Leo' were very amusing. They first appeared as three blooming young maids, but suddenly turning their backs, we saw three old hags in masks that quite took our breath away. The evening closed with scenes from Kenilworth with excellent costumes, a very tragic but also, very interesting subject.

Dr Helen Webb was present. The Seniors were absent at the Hygiene Exam. but the entertainment was repeated the following week for their benefit.

We are glad that all readers of the Parents Review will have an opportunity of reading the excellent paper which Miss Parish read on Thomas Carlyle, in which she drew out his history from the "Relating" of Diogenes Laertius. They will however miss the charm which lay in the sympathetic reading not only of Miss Parish who seemed to have a thorough appreciation of Carlyle but of those who read the eschacks from Sartor Resartus, - Miss Williams, Miss Barnett & others.

Our closest attention was needed throughout & many of the students will welcome the opportunity offered by its publication to read it for themselves.

The Juniors gave a most enjoyable entertainment on quite a new line. They had chosen Henilworth for their subject and gave a series of scenes from the book chosen so that everyone could follow the story. The costumes were excellent and the acting was most spirited. The only visitor present was Miss Bagnall.

May 17th

The Seniors & Juniors united to give a representation of "The Rose & the Ring". It proved to be a most amusing entertainment & caused much merriment among the spectators. A graceful dance was introduced, arranged by Miss Fraser, which was enjoyed. Miss Barnett sang several songs during the intervals, & at the conclusion Mrs Yates sang a Japanese Love Song which brought the evening to a fitting close.

The visitors present were Mr & Mrs Yates Mrs & Miss Firth.
